Plotted Development with proper approvals consistently have a worth and evaluation as far as resale. Also, an advantage contrasted with condos and estates as empty land always appreciates more when compared with different verticals like apartments and villas.

As mentioned, we are purely into plotted Development and in an affordable segment, so pandemic hasn't really impacted us.

Do you think investing in plots is much safer than investing in apartments? Why?

Indeed, investing in plots is consistently more secure on the grounds that land esteem consistently appreciates when compared to apartments and villas. So anytime plotted gives a decent return.

Lastly, there are new and young investors in the market now investing in real estate. What message do you have for them considering investment in plots over apartments?

Considering all, we undertake and develop projects in leading locations with moderate prices. We assist the bank credit facilities too.
