Curtain Raiser Marriage is a social union between individuals that creates kinship. It is an institution in which interpersonal relationships are acknowledged by a variety of ways, depending on the culture or demographic.

Such a union may also be called matrimony, while the ceremony that marks its beginning is usually called a wedding and the marital structure created is known as wedlock.

From time immemorial 'Wedding Ceremony' occupies an important place in the human life. Be it a King or a common man, all his efforts remain focused to celebrate the wedding without leaving any stone unturned as the ceremony sounds synonymous to his pride factor.
